

METHOD OF FILTERING MESSAGES WITH RECEIVING TELEPHONE APPARATUS

Abstract

A method of filtering messages received on a receiving telephone apparatus includes receiving a message from a calling telephone and applying filtering rules to the message. A first filtering rule includes filtering the message if a telephone number of the calling telephone contains less than a predetermined number of digits. If the message satisfies at least one of the filtering rules, a filtering process is then executed on the message.